Friday Night's Hail Storm.

The hail storm which visited this district Friday night, while not very wide, was pretty severe where it did strike. The hail seemed to follow the Lake road and its continuation east, and its worst work was from half a mile to a mile on each side of this line. Three miles south of this road no rain fell at this time. Such farms as those of John Ducholke, M Ducholke, Pa Miller Jr. and on down the line to John Fuhr, Philip Schrumm and John Schumm were hit pretty hard, several claiming 75 per cent. damage. For some reason, only a small percentage of the sufferers carried insurance.

On and After Wednesday, July 25th, the places of business in Stony Plain coming under the Early Closing Ordinance will be closed at the hour of ONE P. M. Every Wednesday.

Last Evening's Ball Game.

The game Wabamun played with Stony on the local grounds last night was a very good one. The visitors btought down their own umpire, and a few apparently just criticisms were heard regarding some of his decisions. As usual, in spite of their hard work, Wabamun did not score a run till the 6th inning.

The final score was—Stony 4, Wabamun 1, and it kept the visitors busy getting that.

The features of the game were Herman Loehlich's excellent pitching, and young Phil Fuhr's patent bunts.

A good crowd witnessed the game, with a delegation present from Spruce Grove. The line-up—

The Approaching Harvest

According to the most reliable reports by banks, elevator companies, railways and Government departments available at the time of writing this article, Western Canada is on the eve of harvesting the greatest wheat crop in its history. Conditions in all three Prairie Provinces are reported as being uniformly favorable, with losses and adverse conditions applicable only to comparatively small and isolated districts.

The net result is a generally accepted estimate of a crop of 500,000,000 bushels of wheat, not to speak of other grains. Such a production means hundreds of millions of bushels as an exportable surplus, for which Canada must find a market in other countries. At the same time it is estimated that the United States will have an exportable surplus of 200,000,000 bushels as well as a surplus carried over from last year. Crop conditions in Australia and the Argentine are reported as good, and it is even predicted that Russia will have wheat for export, although the condition of the Russian transportation systems may make shipment difficult.

With such a volume of wheat for sale it is inevitable that world prices will fall, especially as some of the European nations which in pre-war years were large buyers of wheat are now unable to purchase largely because of their depreciated currency and lack of credit. The sale of the 1923 wheat crop at a price which will yield a fair margin of profit to the farmer is, therefore, one of the biggest problems confronting Canada at the present time.

Another problem created by such a record crop as now seems well nigh assured is the obtaining of a sufficiently large army of harvest hands to see it safely garnered and threshed. It is estimated that from 50,000 to 60,000 men will have to be brought into the West for this purpose. With a heavy call for farm labor there is danger of unduly high wages being demanded—that is, wages higher than the selling price of the wheat will warrant the farmer paying. It would seem, therefore, a wise precaution for farmers to take to write friends and relatives in the East inviting them to come out and assist them in the harvest.

A third big task which the 1923 crop will impose on the country is the work of transportation. Fortunately, both our big railway systems are well equipped for the task, and better equipped than ever before. Increased terminals facilities have also been created, and unless there is congestion in boat traffic on the Lakes, all should go well. Present prospects, also, are for a comparatively early harvest, and this will prove a most helpful factor both in harvesting and threshing operations and in transportation.

With a heavy crop all over the country to be threshed, there will be apprehension among some farmers that they will not be able to get threshed within reasonable time after cutting, and consequently a temptation to purchase their own outfits, although such an investment may be considerably beyond their resources and they may lack the experience necessary to successful operation of threshing machines. Wisdom would dictate a policy of "going slow" in the purchase of very expensive machinery on the strength of one exceptionally heavy crop and present conditions.

On the other hand, with no Wheat Board in existence and no possibility of creating a voluntary co-operative pooling system for this year's crop, great necessity exists for the most extensive co-operation by individual farmers in their respective local districts. They should endeavor to devise local methods of co-operation, whereby, instead of competing one one against the other, they would pool their efforts in the engagement and distribution of farm help, in the securing and distribution of threshing outfits, in the marketing and selling of their crops, and, in general, in the development of plans calculated to advance their mutual interests.

Such local co-operative arrangements have proved of value and substantial profit to farmers in certain districts in past years. Some scheme can be devised in most districts if the farmers only get together to work it out. What is applicable in one place may not be feasible elsewhere, but if a spirit of mutual confidnce, of a willingness to compromise differences, of fair play, prevails in any given district, untold advantages will accrue to those who make an earnest attempt at local co-operation the one with the other.

The Radio and Geography

Large Radio Stations Assist In Transmitting Time Signals

The whole earth is beginning to be fairly well harnessed up with networks of both communication and measurement; much filling remains to be done, but above all the large links must be accuracly measured. Originaly the distances between the continents could only be measured when cables were laid and it required the undivided service of a whole cable during periods of time comparison—an expensive process. Now large radio stations transmit some system of time signals, preferably either seconds beats or a scientific vernier series as do the French stations, and these are received at the various observatories of the world where accurate clocks are maintained and frequent star observations are used to check them. Differences of longitude are deduced from these almost daily throughout the year and the results show very interesting systematic cyclic changes of a fraction of a second which are far above any errors to be expected from either the clocks or observations, and these are being studied by international co-operation among the observatories. In this work the Dominion Observatory is taking an active part.

Urges Action By Powers

British Suggestion For Restoring Normal Conditions in China

Joint action by the powers is understood to have been suggested by Great Britain as a means of restoring normal conditions along the Chinese sea coast and up the great rivers, upon which the export cities are located.

The British suggestion, as understood here, would contemplate the use to a limited extent of naval resources, but would not necessarily involve the military forces.

The British suggestion is understood to have been a result of conferences in Peking following the recent bandit activities in China, and the American minister is said to have opposed any action which would weaken the already tottering Chinese Government. A dispatch from Tokio indicated that Japan also was inclined not to favor any naval demonstration.

Britain Is Now Building Huge Rigid Airships Which Will Hover Above Clouds

Keels are now being laid in Great Britain for huge rigid airships which will hover above the clouds with a number of small fighting machines on board ready to launch at a foe, says an aeronautical expert in the London Daily Chronicle. The task of these new machines in war, he says, will be to carry aloft to immense heights and to transport if necessary, thousands of miles, squadrons of swift, deadly, steel-built "attack planes." These will be launched from high above the clouds, and will rush at 200 miles an hour and more earthward to carry other aircraft and raid the commerce of the seas.

"The airships will have the power, lacking in a small machine," the writer says, "of long-distance flights at a great altitude, while, on the other hand, the small planes they carry will be able to outfly and outfight any machine laden for a long journey.

"In the case of specially-organized attacks by these formidable air-borne fighters on 'planes carried at sea by motor-ships, the tactics of the craft sent darting down from airships will be to dive pell-mell on their surface-launched opponents, and strike them deadly blows before they can gain the vantage-point of altitude.

"Height in air-warfare is the key to victory, and these airship-carrier fighters will have the advantage of being in a position to choose their own moment for a swoop upon enemy aircraft climbing frm the earth."

The Chronicle's contributor says that France, Italy and the United States all show a growing recognition of the importance of mobile "aerial harbors" for swarms of fighting-planes. The United States already has laid the keel of an airship which will launch single-seater fighters and pick them up again while the mother-craft is travelling at full speed. The first American "flying aerodrome," he adds, will be ready to take the air this summer. It will carry as a normal load 12 fighters of the latest type.

Great Britain has completed the first seagoing vessel in the world designed specially for the transport of aircraft. She has a displacement of 10,950 tons and carries seven 6-inch guns, four 4-inch, and a number of smaller guns. Besides torpedo armament, the vessel is fitted with two hangars, enabling her to carry 20 airplanes, which will be raised to the taking-off decks by means of electric elevators.

Another advance in aerial efficiency is the construction, for the British Air Ministry, of huge seaplanes with a speed of 125 miles an hour.

One of the latest types has a wing span of 112 feet and carries nearly two tons of gasoline. It is fitted with twin Condor engines of 1,300 horse-power each, driving twin propellers."

Robert F. Logan Acknowledged By French Critics As Talented Etcher

Robert Fulton Logan, a painter-etcher of Paris, France, has returned to Canada on a visit. Mr. Logan has been described by a critic as "one who is fast becoming the foremost etcher of Paris." He is a Canadian by birth, having been born in Manitoba 32 years ago.

This is his first visit here in many years and he is filled with enthusiasm as to Canada's future. He has just completed a tour of the west, where, he says, there is a feeling of tremendous optimism, because of the prospect of very abundant harvests.

A complete set of eight etchings known as the Burgundry set by Mr. Logan has just been purchased for the library of congress at Washington, while the "Pont Marie," one of his masterpieces, now rests in the Chicago Art Institute. His painting, "Les Molineux Vaillancourt," has been purchased by the French Government for the Luxembourg Gallery in Paris.

Livestock Market Situation

Good Stock in Demand in May With a Considerable Increase in Exports

Although extreme top prices for cattle were rather lower at the principal markets in Canada during the month of May than in the corresponding month last year, as shown by the Dominion Livestock Branch reports, there was an encouraging improvement over the condition of affairs in the preceding month. An extract from the report reads: "Despite the comparatively heavy weight of receipts, the quality of the butcher and export stock was of such a good character, and the demand for good stock so keen, that the range of prices was increased by 50c to $1.25 per hundred weight. In the west there was a weaker tone at the close, whilst heavy cattle were inclined to drag, but in the last, good quality stock held reasonably steady. There was a continued strong demand for good quality stock suitable for finishing for the British market and the domestic beef trade, in view of the steady increase in the movement to seaboard. Short-keep feeders appeared to be very popular with eastern farmers, who paid as high as $7.75 and generally $7 per hundred."

Relative to hogs, the report says that receipts and through billing show an increase to date this year of 150,000 over the same period in 1922. The supply was considered heavy for May, with the export bacon market showing considerable price reduction on account of heavy Danish killings, and consequent difficulty in clearing.

Prices on spring lambs, opened strong in May when few were offered, but as supplies increased, quotations became lower. The top at Toronto was $20, compared with $19 in May, 1922, and $17 in the immediate April. Montreal high was $18 against $20 in May, 1922, and $12.25 in April this year, and Winnipeg top, $13.50 against $16.50 last year and $13.25 in April.

Exports of cattle, calves and sheep have been larger this year than last. From February 1 to May 31, 19,956 cattle were exported to Great Britain and 21,874 to the United States, compared with 3,563 and 9,355 respectively during the corresponding period last year. Export of meat this year up to the end of May were 9,888,900 lbs. against 7,750,400 during the same period last year. Bacon and pork exports were also larger.

Suppression Of Opium Evil

British Minister In Peking Thinks Enforcement of Hague Pact Remedy

China is producing hundreds of tons of opium, says Sir John Jordan, British Minister in Peking, and it looks as though she were going back to the old, bad state of affairs before the suppression of opium by agreement with India was brought about. India, the British Minister adds, used to export about 100,000 chests of opium a year, mostly to China; now her exports are only 8,000 chests, almost exclusively to the East Indies. She is prepared to reduce this if there is a reduced consumption.

He says India is loyally and scrupulously observing every provision of The Hague Convention. Turkey and Persia, he adds, must be brought within The Hague Convention, or the attempt to control the supply of raw opium must inevitably fail. Similarly it is essential that Switzerland join the convention, since that country is one of the most important centres in the world of the drug traffic. "If," Sir John declared, "The Hague Convention is honestly and efficiently enforced today, the opium problem will be solved tomorrow."

Italian Buys Famous Bible

Was Owned By Late Emperor Karl of Austria

The famous Bible of the Borso d'Este, valued at $250,000 and belonging at one time to the late Emperor Karl of Austria, has been purchased by a rich Milan manufacturer, who outbid an American banker for it.

The Bible is illuminated by artists of the 15th century and is regarded by antiquarians as the finest specimen of its kind in existence. During his stay in Switzerland, Karl, being short of money, sold the rare book to a London antiquary, who in turn disposed of it to its present owner in Italy.

Chances For Longevity

Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, diagnostician and author, says, "The average person does not stand the best chance of living long. The man or woman who weighs twenty or thirty per cent. below the average has the best chance for long life. It is safe to say the average individual reaches the ideal build at thirty. If he can keep near that build for the rest of his life, he increases his chances of longevity."

Interesting Discoveries Made In The Red Deer Valley Of Remains Of Gigantic Reptiles

Canada, too, has its "Valley of the Kings." It is not the gold-lapped remains of human kings which repose in this western valley, but the bones of ancient kings of the wild lands which stretched across this continent many centuries before man made his earliest appearance.

These dinosaur kings, who tyrannized over the smaller creatures in that early age, now rest their enormous bones beneath the earth in the "Bad Lands" each of the city of Calgary. Here, the prairie soil is interrupted and the deep canyon of a river marks the border of the Red Deer Valley, where the dinosaurs rested until man's curious hand, aided by machinery necessary for the task, took out of their ancient graves the bones of the megatherions which form objects of great interest in the national museums today.

Once, according to geologists, the bottom of the Bad Lands was the bed of an inland sea, along the shores of which lived the huge lizard-like creatures whose skeletons have only recently been discovered there.

The western "Valley of the Kings" was practically unexplored until a few years ago, when the first amazing bones were found by diggers. Each season now, more and more interesting discoveries are being made. Remains of gigantic reptiles—for they are reptiles, and not mammals, which have left their bones in the Red Deer Valley—fifty, eighty and even one hundred feet in length, are being found at the present time.

The skeletons of the huge creatures brown and broken with age, and the weight of the earth and stone on top of them, are being dug out of the heavy ground in which they are buried, by prospectors who are unwearying in their efforts to force its secrets from the rocky ravine.

Geologists say that the dinosaurs date back more than three million years. When these great beasts flourished on this continent, they walked about by a great inland sea which stretched from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic Ocean. The dinosaurs' remains are buried in the Edmonton and Belly River formations, formed by the waters of this inland sea. The ground where they lived was low and swampy, covered with hugh rushes and jungle grass and ferns, of species unknown at the present day.

Some of the monsters which are now being exhumed were carnivorous. Others were merely herbiverous. Some walked on four legs, others on two. The earlier beasts had huge bodies and small, weak legs, and were built somewhat on the daschund principle. They wallowed about like present-day crocodiles, never going far from the water. Later, they developed stronger limbs, and began to balance themselves on hind legs and tail, assuming a kangaroo-like appearance. Their immense size has never been exceeded.

Some of the animals were encased in a kind of armor. Others were altogether sea reptiles, provided with flippers in place of feet. Still others were like huge bats, smaller than the land animals. Remains of the latter are scarce.

In a single valley of the Red Deer River have been found bones representing several hundred of these prehistoric beasts. The favorite section for tourists is in Dead Lodge Canon. Here have been found duck-billed, horned and crested remains, many of them representing specimens hitherto unknown. The most perfect carnivorous dinosaur skeleton ever found anywhere came from this valley, and is now to be seen at the Royal Victoria Museum, in Ottawa.

Investigations of the wonders of the Bad Lands valleys has been going on since 1884, when the first dinosaur remains were reported by J. B. Tyrell, Dominion Government surveyor, but follow-up work began only recently.

So great has interest in this section of the country become, that the Canadian Pacific Railway has arranged for parties of tourists to visit the place this summer, the valley can be reached by motoring from the town of Brooks, on the C.P.R. main line, 110 miles east of Calgary and 66 miles west of Medicine Hat. The approach to the Bad Lands recommended by railway officials here is that from Dead Lodge Canyon or along the One Tree Trail, where one comes suddenly upon the great valley from a height above it.

All-British Inventions

Many Produced By Research Department Cannot Be Imitated

The Morning Post published some information which we imagine was quite new to the public about the work of the Engineering Research Department of the post office. One of the inventions of the department is an instrument which indicates the exact point at which any underground telegraph cable is in danger of breaking. By this means the collapse of any cable can be foreseen and prevented, and yet the instrument can perform its work of detection while the ordinary telegraph service is going on. Another example of the economy resulting from research work is that the original trunk lines between London and the north which weighed 600 lbs. per mile have been replaced by wire weighing only 40 lbs. per mile. Moreover, much better results are obtained by the lighter wire. The Morning Post says that the Post Office Research Department helped the Allies to an extraordinary extent in winning the war. The various devices produced by the department were "all-British" and our enemies could not imitate them. "So there's something in the English after all." Research is one of the few things which truly prosper in a business department of State because men follow research like a mistress or an art.—From the London Spectator.

Determined To Stop Bootlegging In Furs

Plans Made to Enforce Game Laws of Each Province

Bootlegging in furs from one province to another is to be stopped, M. B. Jackson, M.L.A., Chairman of the British Columbia Game Conservation Board, announced on his return to Victoria from Winnipeg, where western provinces were in conference on game and fur shipments.

Plans were made at the conference to have enforced, in shipment of furs from one province to another, all game laws of the province of origin, Mr. Jackson said. The Dominion Government will be asked to back the provinces up with legislation. Uniform royalties on furs are also planned.

"This arrangement, we believe, will put an end to bootlegging in fur and will place an official stamp on fur transactions from one coast of Canada to the other," he said.

Silver Rush to Yukon

At midnight, in Dawson City, Yukon Territory, as the celebration of Empire Day was at its height, tidings were brought to the dance halls and gambling places of the discovery of a silver lodge at Happy Creek, forty miles south of Yukon. Immediately the rush began and soon the waterways leading to Happy Creek were filled with rowboats, canoes and launches carrying eager prospectors.

"I haven't had a chance yet to get into my clothes, Dolores. I have," he said whimsically to Dorothy, who flushed prettily and looked away.

"I don't see what clothes have to do with talking to me," she said half mischievously.

"Neither do I," he agreed. She had stepped aside and his horse's head was free. "I guess they haven't a thing to do with it, but I haven't been seeing things exactly straight lately. I reckon I've been half locoed."

Touching his horse with the spurs, he loped away to join Santry, who was waiting for him on ahead.

CHAPTER XIX.

Baffled, But Still Dangerous

When Trowbridge left Dorothy Purnell, promising to find his friend for her sake, he had assumed a confidence that he was far from feeling. No man knew the country thereabout any better than he did, and he realized that there was, at best, only a meager chance of trailing the miscreant who had succeeded in trapping his victim somewhere in the mountains. A weaker man would have paused in dismay at the hopelessness of the task he had undertaken, but Lem Trowbridge was neither weak nor capable of feeling dismay, or of acknowledging hopelessness. Time enough for all that after he should have failed. In the meantime it was up to him to follow Moran. He had learned from Santry of the place where Wade was stricken down, but how far from there, or in what direction he had been taken, was a matter of conjecture only, and the only way to learn was to trail the party that had undoubtedly carried the helpless man away perhaps to his death, but possibly, and more probably, to hold him captive.

Desperate as he knew Moran to be, he did not believe that the immediate murder of Gordon Wade was planned. That would be poor strategy and Moran was too shrewd in that fashion.

It seemed clear enough that parley of some sort was intended but knowing both Wade and Moran as he did, Trowbridge realized that in order to be of any assistance, he must be on the spot without delay. He had planned rapidly and he now acted rapidly.

One of his men was stationed at the big pine, as he had told Dorothy, but all the others in his employ rode with him as swiftly as the best horses on his ranch could carry them, to the spot Santry had told him of. There they found unmistakable traces of half a dozen or more horses, besides the footprints of Wade's mount, and a brief examination was enough to show which way the party had gone. Undoubtedly they had taken Wade with them, so the pursuing party followed.

It was one thing to follow, however, and another thing to overtake. Moran was better versed in the intricacies of big cities than in those of the wilderness, but he was shrewd enough to realize that Wade's friends would start an instant search, as soon as they should miss the ranchman, and it was no part of his plans to be taken by surprise.

Therefore, as soon as he had his victim thrown into the prison from which escape seemed impossible, Moran selected a camp site nearby, from which he had a view of the surrounding country for miles around in every direction, and scanning the horizon carefully after his vain attempt to intimidate Wade, he saw Trowbridge's party approaching, while they were still half a dozen miles away.

His first thought was to stay where he was and give battle. In this he would have a good chance of victory, for, by opening fire on Trowbridge and his followers as they came up, he could undoubtedly have picked off three or four of them before they reached him, and so secured odds in his favor, if it should come to an immediate encounter.

Second thought, however, showed him the folly of such a course. There was too much remaining for him to do, and the temporary advantage he might gain would not compensate him for the havoc it would make in his ultimate designs. He therefore called Goat Neale aside and said: "There's a party of Wade's friends coming up from the East, looking for him, and I've got to lead them away. You stay here, but keep in hiding and take care that nobody learns where Wade is. He'll live for a few days without grub and I'll come back and tend to his case after I've got this party going round in circles.

"You stay, and the rest of us will all ride off to the north, and they'll think we have Wade with us, so they'll follow us, but we'll lose them somewhere on the way. Sabe?"

Neale demurred at first to the plan, but consented willingly enough when Moran promised him extra pay, so he stayed, and we already know the result. Moran, however, followed out his plans successfully enough, and before night he reached Crawling Water in safety, while Trowbridge, getting word through one of his scouts of Wade's rescue, abandoned the pursuit. He had been prepared to shoot Moran down at sight, but he was ready enough to leave that work to the man who had a better claim to the privilege than he had.

Accordingly Moran had ridden into town, exhausted by the exertions of his trip and had slept for twelve hours before thinking of anything else. When he learned on awakening of all that had happened during his absence, he was furious with rage. Tug Bailey had been arrested and was on his way to Crawling Water in custody. Senator Rexhill and Helen had taken an Eastward-bound train without leaving any word for him, and to crown it all, he presently learned that Neale had been shot and Wade had been found, and that the whole countryside was aflame with indignation.

It was characteristic of the man that even in this emergency he had no thought of following his cowardly accomplice in flight. It might be hopeless to stay and fight but he was a fighting man, and he really exulted in the thought of the inevitable struggle that was coming.

Sitting alone in his office studying the situation, he felt the need of liquor even more strongly than usual, though the habit had grown on him of late, and accordingly he drank again and again, increasing his rage thereby, but getting little help towards a solution of his difficulties.

He was enraged most of all at Wade's escape from Coyote Springs and was still puzzled to think how this had happened, for Senator Rexhill in leaving had kept his own counsel on that point, and Moran did not dream of his having betrayed the secret.

Not only had the ranchman been able to turn another trick in the game by escaping, but he had also evaded Moran's intended vengeance, for the latter had had no thought of letting his prisoner go alive. He had meant first to secure Wade's signature, and then to make away with him so cleverly as to escape conviction for the act.

He realized now, when it was too late, that he had acted too deliberately in that matter, and he was sorry for it. He considered the departure of the Rexhills a cowardly defection. He was furious to think that Helen had refused to listen to him while she stayed, or to say good-bye to him before leaving. The sting of these various reflections led him to take further pull at a silver flask which he kept in his poket, and which bore the inscription, "To Race Moran from his friends of the Murray Hill Club."

"So," he muttered, chewing his mustache, "that's what I get for sticking to Rexhill." Leaning back in his swivel chair, he put his feet up on the desk and hooked his fingers in the arm-holes of his vest. "Well, I ain't ready to run yet, not by a jugful."

In his decision to remain, however, he was actuated by a desire to close with Wade, and not by any enthusiasm for the cause of the hired rascals who were so loudly singing his praise. They were not cowards, nor was he, but he had had too much experience with such people to be deluded into believing that, when the showdown came, they would think of anything but their own precious skins. He had heard rumors of the activity of the cattlemen, but he discounted such rumors because of many false alarms in the past. He would not frightened off; he determined to remain until there was an actual clash of arms, in the hope that events would so work out as to allow him a chance to get back, and severely, at Wade.

He got to his feet and rolled about the room, like a boozy sailor, puffing out volumes of smoke and muttering beneath his breath. When he had worked off some of his agitation, the big fellow seated himself again, shrugged his massive shoulders, and lapsed into an alcoholic reverie. He was applying his inflamed brain to the problem of vengeance, when hurried footsteps on the stairs aroused him. Going to the door, he flung it open and peered out into the dimly lighted hallway.

"Hello, Jed!" he exclaimed, upon finding that the newcomer was one of his "heelers." "What d'you want? Hic!" He straightened up with a ludicrous assumption of gravity.

"The night riders! They're . . ." The man was breathless and visibly panic-stricken.

"Riders? Hic! What riders?" Moran growled. "Out with it, you jelly-fish!"

"The ranchers—the cattlemen—they've entered the town: they're on the warpath. Already a lot of our fellows have been shot up."

"The hell they have! How long ago? Where?"

"Other end of town. Must be two hundred or more. I hustled down here to put you wise to the play."

"Thanks!" said Moran laconically. "You're headed in the right direction, keep going!"

Still Draws Benefit From Balaclava Fund

Non-Commissioned Officer of Light Brigade Is Ninety-Two

Only one non-commissioned officer of the "Noble Six Hundred" of the famous charge of the Light Brigade is now living and he has reached the advanced age of 92.

He is Edwin Hughes, troop sergeant-major of the 13th Hussars, and is the only person now receiving aid from the Balaclava Fund which was organized shortly after the Crimean War to support the widows and children of the non-commisisoned officers and to provide old age pensions for the officers.

Miller's Worm Powders are sweet and palatable to children, who show no hesitancy in taking them. They will certainly bring worm troubles to an end. They are a strengthening and stimulating medicine, correcting the disorders of digestion that the worms cause and imparting a healthy tone to the system most beneficial to development.

Bishop Carried Widow's Basket

A washerwoman, a widow, was carrying home a big basketful of clothes at Durham, Eng. Alderman Alfred Pattison, a former Mayor, saw the woman's strength was overtaxed and took one handle of the basket.

A few moments later they met Bishop Welldon strolling along the river's bank and he too offered to help. So Bishop and Alderman, each holding a handle of the basket carried the clothes to the widow's home a quarter of a mile away.

BEFORE MY BABY CAME

I Was Greatly Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sydenham, Ont.—"I took your medicine before my baby was born, and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I had started to take it. I just felt as though I was tired out all the time and would have weak, faint spells. My nerves would bother me until I could get little rest, night or day. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I only took a few bottles and it helped me wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to recommend this good medicine. I will lend that little book you sent me to any one I can help. You can with the greatest of pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will help others take it."—Mrs. HARVEY MILLIGAN, Sydenham, Ont.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many women are poorly at such times and get into a weakened, run-down condition, when it is essential to the mother, as well as the child, that her strength be kept up.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother at this time. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It may be taken in safety by the nursing mother.

Great Things Can Be Accomplished By Misers of Time

Martin Luther published nearly a whole library of books. When asked how he had time to translate the Bible in addition to all of his other work, he replied: "I do a little every day."

The famous "Pilgrim's Progress" was written by John Bunyan while he was imprisoned in Bedford Jail. He improved minutes that might have wasted.

Sir Walter Raleigh was another miser of time. He spent the years of his imprisonment in the Tower of London by writing, "The History of the World," a standard work for all time.

Dr. Burney, musical author, learned the French and Italian languages while travelling on horseback from one music pupil to another.

Voluntary Wheat Pool Will Be Formed By Saskatchewan G. G. A.

Regina.—Steps towards the formation of a voluntary wheat pool in time for the crop of this year have been decided upon by the Executive of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association after a long discussion extending over two days. The following announcement was made through the Secretary, J. B. McPhail:

"A special meeting of the Executive of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association was held in the central office of the association on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 17 and 18, for the purpose of considering the question of the formation of a voluntary wheat pool.

"After very full consideration of the whole question and after conferring with legal and grain experts the following resolution was passed:

"'Whereas we regret it was found impossible to bring into operation a wheat board and realizing the wide spread demand among farmers for a co-operative wheat pool, resolved, that we proceed to organize a provincial wheat pool for the marketing of this year's crop looking towards the fullest measure of inter-provincial co-operation.'

"A committee will be appointed and immediate steps are being taken to organize and put into operation a voluntary pool in time for the handling of this year's crop."

As the arrival of Aaron Sapiro, the Californian fruit marketing expert, is pending the question was put to the secretary whether this man would be called in by the Grain Growers' Association.

"We are not calling him in," was the reply. It is understood, too, that there is no connection at present between the efforts of the Grain Growers' Association and those of the newer organization, the Farmers' Union, but that the Grain Growers will work upon their own scheme.

Would Build Wireless Station In England

Eastern Telegraph Company Has Applied for License

London.—Replying to questions in the House of Commons, the postmaster-general, Sir Laming Worthington Evans, said the Eastern Telegraph Company had applied for a license to build a high power station in England in connection with an Empire wireless chain. This company, said the minister, has the same chance of obtaining a license as the Marconi Company, so far as the Government is concerned. The question of building corresponding stations in India or the Dominions would be for the Governments concerned to settle.

It was announced that a site of 800 acres has been purchased by the Post Office Department near Rugby for a high power wireless station, which will cost about £50,000.

Britain Not Obliged To Tell Naval Plans

Retained Full Freedom of Action Regarding Singapore Base

London.—The proposed extra facilities at the British naval base in Singapore were not made known to the other nations at the Washington armament conference, and there was no reason why they should have been, questioners were told in the House of Commons by Lieut.-Col. L. S. Amery, First Lord of the Admiralty.

It was clearly understood by all the delegates at Washington, he said, that Great Britain was retaining full freedom of action as regards Singapore, which had always been a naval and military station. The proposal for the base were first approved in June, 1922.

HEAVY LOSS FROM STORM

DAMAGE FROM CYCLONE IN LUMSDEN AREA MAY EXCEED MILLION DOLLARS

Regina.—Survey of property and crop damage in Lumsden and Tuxford districts, hit by the recent cyclone, indicates the loss will exceed a million dollars.

Eight people were injured, one seriously, in the tornado which cut a narrow and erratic path from west to east, starting at Dodsland through the Marquis and Tuxford districts into the valley west of Lumsden, out of the valley south of Lumsden, on to the Piapot Reserve, going as far east as Wapella.

In the valley it was wind, and wind alone, which caused buildings to be torn from their foundations and huge trees and telephone poles snapped asunder like matches. But at Tuxford the wind was combined with a terrific hailstorm.

Crop damage will be very heavy. Rain, driven by resistless wind, drove crops into the ground at Lumsden. Hail accomplished the same effect at Tuxford and, in a lesser degree, at Marquis.

General Smuts proceeded to pay a remarkable tribute to Premier Baldwin, adding: "He is a simple, sincere and straight English gentleman with no nonsense about him."

He averred his intention to fight on behalf of South Africa a battle for peace at the Imperial Conference.

Reviving Smuggling Along English Coast

Business of Hundred Years Ago Is Again Profitable

London.—Cross-channel smuggling, once a feature of the Napoleonic wars, is reviving along the English coasts. A depreciated French exchange and reduced coastguard forces have made smuggling profitable again, and lonely stretches of the Kent and Sussex coasts are, after a lapse of upwards of a hundred years, again the scene of nocturnal brandy-runnings.

Up to this year the greatest trouble of the revenue protective officers was with German ships, the slump in the mark making it well worth while for a crew to smuggle raw spirits to the Thames.

But since a German steward was fined five million marks in London last January for smuggling brandy and liquors there has been little of this traffic carried on.

Racing Sheets Imports

Ottawa.—Federal legislation passed at the recent session of Parliament, prohibiting the import into Canada of racing sheets, is occupying the attention of the customs department, it is stated. Trade Reprisals War Between Canada And U.S. Now Being Predicted

New York.—A "war of trade reprisals" between Canada and the United States is predicted by the New York World if the pulp wood embargo authorized by the Canadian Parliament is put into force. The World declares the embargo would mean the closing of many United States mills along the border, curtailment of other mills and the transfer of "another big fraction" of the paper industry to Canada, as well as "war-time prices" for paper, and continues:

"It would mean more than this. Enforcement of the embargo would undoubtedly start a new war of trade reprisals between the two countries. Retaliatory measures from this side could begin with coal, oil, sulphur and other necessary supplies for Canadian mills and extend beyond. No one would be helped in the end. Both sides would be hurt and ill-will engendered all around."

The World declares the situation calls for reconsideration of the whole trade situation as between Canada and the United States. "We have to remember that the Fordney-McCumber tariff hits Canada a hard blow and is largely provocative of Canada's present action," it asserts. "Concessions are called for from our side as well as from their side."

DEMAND BRANCH LINES

THINK GOVERNMENT SHOULD AUTHORIZE EXPENDITURE FOR PROPOSED EXTENSIONS

Saskatoon.—A resolution calling upon Premier Mackenzie King to authorize the expenditure necessary for the construction of the proposed Canadian National branch lines was carried at a meeting of the Saskatchewan Associated Boards of Trade Executive. It says the money for the branch lines should be taken out of the appropriation of $73,000,000 voted to the Canadian National by Parliament, or from public funds.

Not dangerous to National Interests, Pasha Informed Government

Constantinople.—The questions of concessions of foreign companies and the withdrawal of warships from the straits, closed formally by the near east conference at Lausanne, were settled in a manner not dangerous to the national interests and without prejudice to the economic independence of Turkey, the Turkish Government announced that it had been informed by Ismet Pasha. The Government consequently authorized the head of the delegation to sign the peace treaty.

Britain Recapturing Trade

Exports to Brazil Surpass American First Time Since War

Rio de Janeiro.—American exports to Brazil, according to figures published by the Federal Department of Commercial Statistics, were surpassed by British shipments last year for the first time since the beginning of the world war. The total value of American exports to this country in 1922 was almost equal to that of the year before hostilities began in Europe, but less than one-quarter of the total reached in the high tide year of 1920.

The reasons for this tremendous decrease in Brazilian imports of American products, according to opinions expressed by business representatives here, are the unfavorable exchange rates on Brazilian money, the relatively higher cost of doing business confronting American exporters, and the gereral retrenchment in Brazil.

Form Miniature Pool

Group of Southern Alberta Farmers Will Co-operate In Marketing Crop

Lethbridge. — Twenty-three Southern Alberta farmers, driven to desperation by slumping wheat prices, are planning on forming their own wheat pool. At a meeting in MacLeod they took preliminary steps toward joining the Pincher Creek Co-operative Association, which, in addition to handling produce, has made money for its members in centralized wheat selling, even on a very small scale. The miniature pool will include farmers in the Pincher Creek, Claresholm, Granum, MacLeod and Glenwoodville districts. The meeting was attended by half a dozen members of the Provincial Legislature, Hon. A. L. McPherson, Speaker of the Alberta House, being in the chair. At the same meeting the western grain rout to Vancouver was endorsed.

The total number of Canadians who migrated to the United States during May was 18,668, of whom 7,723 were women.

Skilled mechanics to the number of 2,331 came to Canada from Great Britain during the same month.

News of Duffield District.

A new barn is being built in connection with the Farm Instructors work on the Reservation. Mr. Laight is doing splendid work with the Indians.

At the meeting of the U.F.A. on Saturday last it was decided to charge a flat rate to all shippers. Mr. Blondell gave a very interesting talk on co-operative work among the farmers in Ireland and England. The speaker said that it was largely ignorance of the real value of co-operation that kept the farmers apart.

We understand the co-operative shipping from the Mewasin farmers is to be carried on free of charge. Whereas the U.F.A. shipping co operatively, decided to pay the shipping officer, Mr. Best. We know from the past that time will soon tell which is the better method. We also contend that if the shipping free of charge with a different man responsible for each shipment, if better prices are realized, patronize this method of shipping your stock. We suggest definite organization for the farmers south.

The ball team opened the League games on the 15th at Wabamun. The score, after a little controversy quite apart from baseball, was 7 to 6, in favor of Duffield. A second game was played on the local diamond Wednesday, 28th. The visiting team was late in arriving, which run the game into a rain storm. With the odds against the local boys after the sixth inning, it looked like a victory for Wabamun, but when Walker called the game they had the big end of the score, 14 - 12. Keep up the good work, boys!

Bishop O'Leary of Edmonton will hold a Confirmation service in Duffield next Sunday afternoon, July 29. The service is open to the public.

Mr Andy Brass assisted at the wedding of his sister in Edmonton on last week. His mother returned to Duffield with him, and is spending a few days with Mrs Faulks. Andy has been promoted from horseback riding to auto-anto something—we don't know yet.

Glad to report Mrs Faulks is home and is much improved in health.

The Indians are celebrating on the Reservation these days. They received their treaty money a few days ago, and beautiful green dollar bills are much in evidence; but the Indian has not much taste for beauty: they are more practical, matter-of fact fellows.

Clifford McDougall, who received a slight sunstroke about a week ago, is still confined to his house, but improving.

A number of the residents attended Edmonton Exhibition last week.

Britain's Air Defences

Larger Air Fleet Very Necessary, Says Manchester Guardian

The people of Great Britain are about unanimous in supporting the Government programme for a larger air fleet. "If it was ever necessary for this country," says the Manchester Guardian, "to have a two-power standard at sea, it is no less necessary now to have a one-power standard in the air. Looking at Europe as it is, not as one would like it to be or as a few years ago it might perhaps have been made, who would dare to say that the Government, bitterly though one may resent the necessity, is rash, provocative, or extravagant in deciding to build an air force capable of holding its own against any neighbor which possesses a fleet demonstrably not intended solely for purpose of defence?"

Sending Gold to States

A supposedly well-informed observer in the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce at Washington declares that the German Government, masked under the names of individuals, is sending its gold to the United States, where it has at present between $500,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 invested in stocks and bonds. Germany does not fear that the United States will confiscate it and has faith in the economic soundness of American business.

Tobacco's Effect Tested

Medical Men Find That Smoking Aids Digestion

That smoking may be regarded as an aid to digestion was indicated by Dr. J. W. Crane in an address delivered recently to a Western University audience at London, Ont. Dr. Crane said that he had at one time advised his students not to use tobacco, believing it weakened digestion, but tests had shown that the saliva of a smoker digested starch better than that of a non-smoker. Starch is a constituent of many foods.

From another point of view Sir James Cantlie, the renowned British medical authority, also regards tobacco as an aid to digestion. "Tobacco," says Sir James, "has its good effects in digestion, in lessening the effects of worry."

Shipping Men In Conference

Representatives From Various Parts Of Canada and U.S. Meet In Montreal

Freighmen connected with ocean lines from various parts of Canada and the United States, including New York, Boston and Baltimore, have been in conference at Montreal, under the auspices of the United Kingdom Conference and the Continental Conference. On Monday the party was entertained by the Canada Steamship Lines on board the S.S. Montreal, when a splendid luncheon was served. In the unavoidable absence of Mr. J. W. Norcross, President and Managing Director, and Mr. S. Isard, General Manager, the duties of host were carried out by Mr. L. A. W. Doherty, Freight Traffic Manager.

Mr. Doherty presided and he was surrounded by Messrs. C. H. Georgi, representing Ellerman's Wilson Line, New York; W. A. Coates, Robert Reford Co., Ltd., Montreal; Mr. Connor and Mr. Sidebotham, Furness Withy Line, New York; Mr. Nichols, Furness Withy Line, Boston; Messrs. Kenick, Hagarty and Wright, Cunard Line, New York; Major P. A. Curry, White Star Dominion Line, Montreal; Mr. McLachlin, White Star Line, Boston. Mr. G. H. Wells and Mr. Craig, United States Shipping Board; Mr. Kloss, Canada Steamship Lines; Mr. Wood, Canadian Government Merchant Marine; Mr. T. C. Lockwood, Cunard Line, Montreal; and Mr. Forbes, White Star Line Montreal.

Short speeches were delivered at the conclusion of the lunch, Mr. Doherty welcoming the visitors, Mr. Coates also made a brief speech to which Mr. Georgi and Mr. MacIntyre replied. The latter on behalf of the Shipping Board, expressed the hope that some of the prominent Canadians should go to Washington and endeavor to influence some of the hard boiled eggs of the living conditions to be found in Canada.

Subsequently, the party visited the Canada Steamship Lines' new addition to the Saguenay division, the palatial Richelieu, which had just arrived in Montreal, and the visitors from the United States expressed appreciation of its equipment. Mr. Georgi said he was very much surprised to hear of the deep draught of the vessel and pointed out that it would be impossible for the Richelieu to traverse the River Hudson. He congratulated the Canada Steamship Lines on the possession of so exceptionally fine a river steamer.

SUMMER COMPLAINT CRAMPS and DIARRHOEA

There is no other kind of disease that comes on so quickly and with so little warning as an attack of bowel trouble.

One may retire at night, in the best of health, and before morning be awakened by terrific cramps and pains in the stomach followed by diarrhoea, dysentry, summer complaint or bowel trouble in one form or another.

At this season of the year, when bowel troubles are so prevalent, we would advise the precaution of always having on hand a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry so that you will be ready for any and all emergencies. You will find that a few doses of this valuable remedy, taken promptly, will be the means of preventing a great deal of unnecessary suffering, and many a time save life.

Mrs. W. H. Judd, 174 Catherine St., S., Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"Last summer I had a very bad attack of summer complaint, cramp and diarrhoea. I tried many different remedies, but they did not seem to help me. I heard of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, so decided I would try it. I only took a few doses, and in a short time I was better."

Japan Must Import Wheat

Forty Million Bushels Required and Crop is Short

The crops of Japan will show a considerable decrease as compared with totals of last year, according to information received by the Department of Trade and Commerce. The estimated yield of wheat is 24,685,045 bushels, which is a decrease of 1,060,125 bushels from last year's crop. As the total requirements of Japan amount to about 40 million bushels annually, a large amount will have to be imported to make up for deficiencies in domestic supplies, it is stated. There are substantial decreases in the estimated yield of both barley and rye, as compared with last year.

The Family Physician.—The good doctor is always worth his fee. But it is not always possible to get a doctor just when you want him. In such cases, common sense suggests the use of reliable home remedies, such as Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which is wonderfully effective in easing inflammatory pains and healing cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. The presence of this remedy in the family medicine chest saves many a fee.

RHEUMATISM OVER SAYS CONTRACTOR

Thousands of people everywhere have learned of Tanlac through the statements of others and have taken the treatment with such splendid results that they in turn deem it only fair to relate their experience for the benefit of suffering humanity. Such is the case with L. Desormeaux, well-known Electrical Contractor, living at 1066 Berri St., Montreal, who says:

"I couldn't do otherwise than publicly endorse Tanlac for I was lucky to find out about the medicine the same way myself. For nearly a year I suffered from indigestion, and also had rheumatism in my legs. About a month ago I was laid up in bed for two weeks with this rheumatism and a bad case of grippe. I lost about eight pounds and felt miserable.

"Three bottle of the Tanlac treatment, besides greatly improving my rheumatism, has made my eating and digestion better than they ever were. I have regained my lost weight, and am feeling extremely well. Tanlac is great."

Stony B.B.Team at Wabamun

The Stony Plain ball team jhurneyed to Wabamun on Sunday and beat Wabamun the first schedule game 18—8. Stony was five regular players short, but managed to pile up 8 runs in the first 2 innings, and had the game cinched from the start, considering the good pitching of Herman Loeblich, who held Wabamun scoreless until the 4th inning.

Stony had a hard time getting the requisite number of players, and had a much harder time getting cars in which to convey the players; but after an elderly sport had loaned his car for the day, we were O.K. John H Millee, Sam Zucht and Emmanuel Schadeck also took their cars up, and helped carry the players. It was a good game, and we must say Wabamun has some pretty good sports. The line-up—

Wabamun		Stony

Sam Zucht was umpire, and handled the game fine. (Even Wabamun liked him.

SCHULFEST

St. Matthew Church celebrated "Schulfest" last Sunday. A model picnic day helped to make the affair a real success. Visitors came from far and near. About 500 people attended. Approximately one hundred children took part in the performance.

The program was rendered largely by the pupils of St Matthew School. They were assisted by a group of young people of the congregation. The Golden Spike band was in attendance. The program was partly of a patriotic and partly of an entertaining nature.

Prof. Rehwinkle, M. A., B.D., was the speaker of the day. In the course of his lecture the Professor touched on various phases of educational and social life of the world at large and of our Province in particular, centering his remarks on "the family" as the factor in the building of character, church and country. The speaker was very outspoken in denouncing the "one child system" of families because of its pernicious influence on the morals and life of the nation. He stated that Stony Plain community was fortunate indeed, and was as such an asset to the nation, because it has many large families in its midst. The speaker deprecated the present day tendency toward socialisation and insisted that not the community, i.e., not the State, but the family, is the most fundamental of all institutions.

Canadian nation-builders are everywhere saying that the people of Canada, in order to keep them in our country, must be made to feel at home in Canada. From numerous expressions heard, we are inclined to say that a celebration such as that staged by St. Matthew School last Sunday performs a valuable patriotic service.

The program closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

A reduction of express rates on westward moving business between Europe and Canada was announced by the Foreign Department of the Dominion Express Company recently.
